

IT'S GIN O'CLOCK

Welcome to the Gin Bar at Galgorm Resort & Spa.

Housed in this magnificent Conservatory overlooking the stunning backdrop of the beautiful cascading River Maine, what better place to indulge in one of our renowned Gin cocktails?

The Birth of the Gin and Tonic

After its introduction in the UK in 1714, the consumption of Gin became so popular that London went through a period named "the Gin Craze". It was said that the city had an epidemic of drunkenness from overconsumption of the liquor, so much so that in 1729 Parliament passed the first Gin Act, created to control the consumption of the spirit.

Created as an anti-malarial treatment for British troops serving in India, it proved such as success that even today nobody wants to take a chance, even in areas where there has never been a case of malaria! Better to have a Gin & Tonic, just to be safe.

We Love Gin

We are passionate about Gin. It is this passion that has fuelled our fervent desire to have the best Gin collection that we can possibly offer. Turn each page with anticipation and excitement as we have just welcomed the 300th Gin to our collection making it the most extensive Gin compilation in Ireland.

We have grown our Gin list with earnest and are proud to showcase Shortcross Gin and Jawbox Gin, both produced locally in Northern Ireland but we are also privileged to include some of the most unique gins from around the UK and the rest of the world in our collection that you can discover in our Gin Library.

It's All About the Botanicals

We have collated such an extensive Gin collection because every brand offers a unique and different experience due to the varying content of juniper and botanicals and we want to offer something to delight everyone. What's your preference? A strong juniper presence or a subtle hint? Our collection invites you to find your Gin utopia.

It Takes Two

To enhance your experience, we provide a wide-ranging tonic menu to complement the Gins within our collection as we recognise through our love of Gin that sometimes a partner is needed to achieve "completeness" instead of going solo.

Our well-versed and highly knowledgeable Bar Team will partner your Gin of choice with the perfect tonic and tailor any accompaniments to your preference.

Indulge and enjoy the journey of discovery to "your" perfect Gin cocktail. We would be delighted to assist if you require any advice and guidance.
